READ: Iran has been hit hard by US and Israeli strikes but is still holding—for now. Amid a fragile ceasefire and a severely weakened regime, what comes next for Tehran? RSIS Research Fellow Ghada Soliman weighs in - click here to read this article in MEI's Perspectives Series.

WHAT'S NEWS: THE BIG HEADLINES THIS WEEK

Iran Suspends Cooperation with IAEA

This decision will further strain relations between Tehran and the IAEA, which were already at a lowpoint since the start of the 12-day war between Iran and Israel. Experts warned that Iran could feel that it needs to start work on building a weapon as a deterrent to future attacks.

Saudi Team Stuns English Giants in Club World Cup

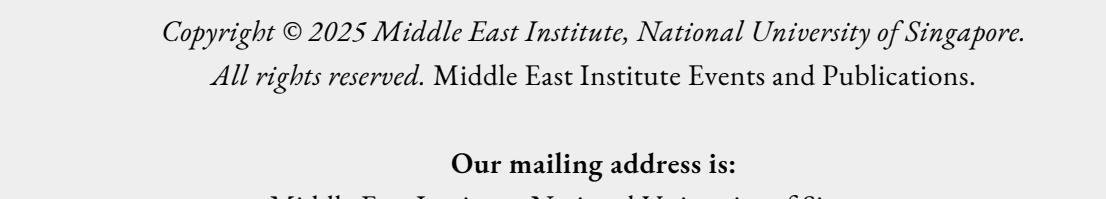

PIF-powered Al Hilal eliminated Manchester City from the tournament in a landmark victory for the Saudi Arabian team, winning a remarkable last-16 game. The team's run speaks to the standard of football in Saudi Arabia, long dismissed by many as merely a cash grab for players.

"Let's see now if they will criticise us after these games", said Al Hilal midfielder Sergej Milinkovic-Savic (standing with hands raised), after the match. He added, "it's not like how they are speaking about the league". Photo: AFP

Israelis Set a Palestinian Village Ablaze

Scores of masked Israelis arrived in Kafr Malik by foot and vehicle, launching an attack that saw Molotov cocktails thrown and homes and cars set ablaze, according to witnesses. This violence set off a chain of confrontations between settlers and Israeli security forces in the area.
